TABLE OF CONTENTS

The world does not stand still. A world so different from the world known to previous generations makes new demands on us. Since we cannot sit idly by and let life move on without us, we change. As the streets of our cities have changed, so have the people who walk those streets: the businessmen, the shoppers, the children. We see change in clothing, hair-styles, speech, even in the buildings that surround us. In short, change affects every aspect of our lives. The only thing that will remain constant is the necessity for CHANGE.

There is nothing permanent except change.

Heraclitus

What man has made, man can change

Fred M. Vinson

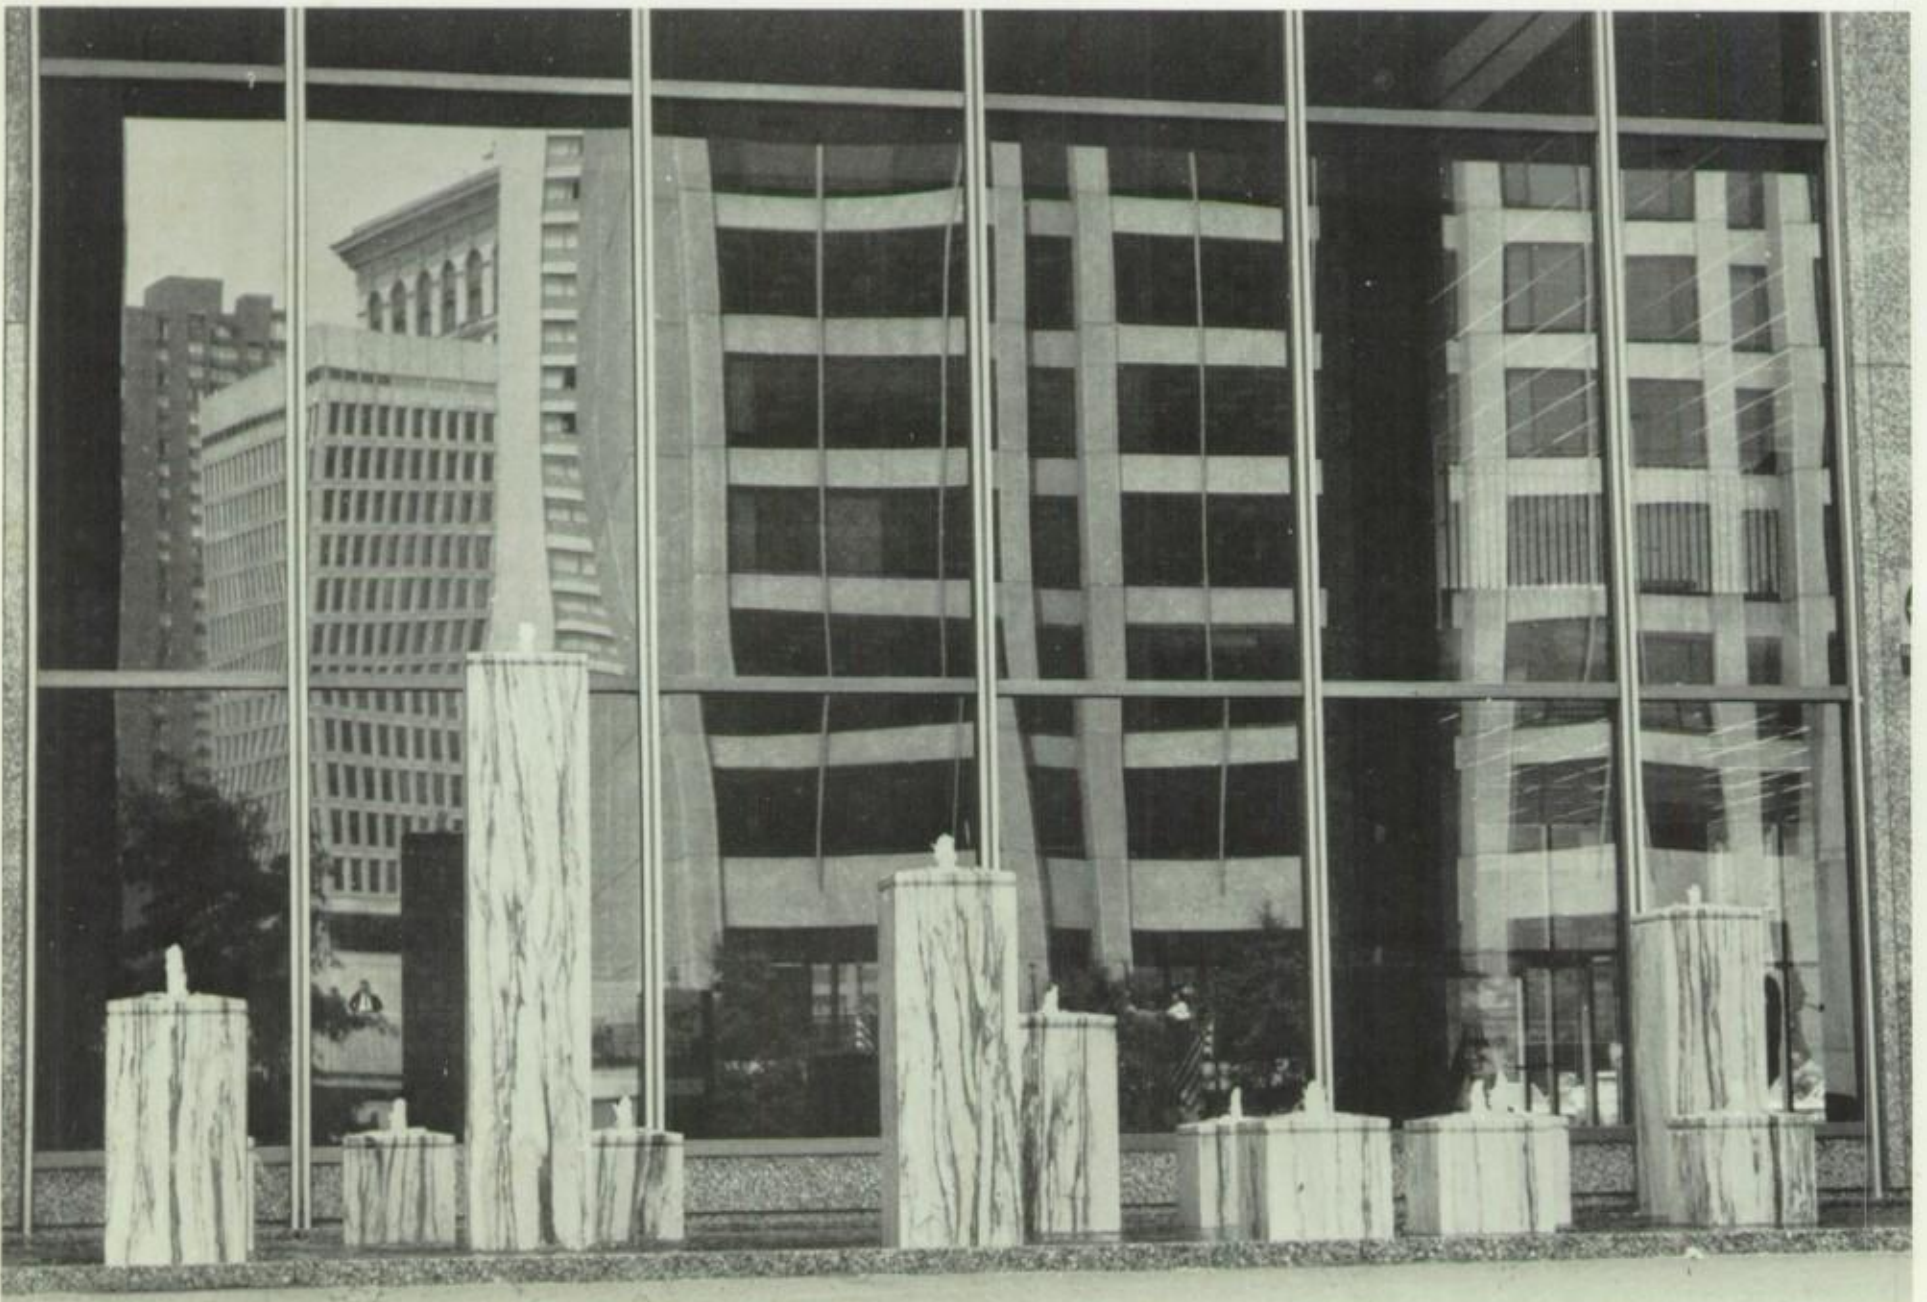

Even though our city is continually changing, the reminders of the past remain. New buildings are erected in the shadows of the old; the new reflects the old. Thus, one supports the other.

Equal representation of the traditional and the contemporary; the Lord Baltimore and the Statler Hilton.

Baltimore City Fair

A first of firsts — the Baltimore City Fair was the first urban fair to be held anywhere in the nation. Celebrating the advantages of city life, the fair provided a showplace for the various city neighborhoods.

Cross Keys

Against the background of graceful landscapes and open, airy structures, Cross Keys combines the best of city living with a country background.

At Chappell Bros., Lois Fried and Faye Lecates man check-out counters.

Western has changed with her world. Since 1844, when she was established as the first female high school in the country, the attitudes of her student body and administration have altered greatly. Western continues to offer one of the best educations possible. Students have freedom of choice at Western, even the freedom to choose Western over any other school.

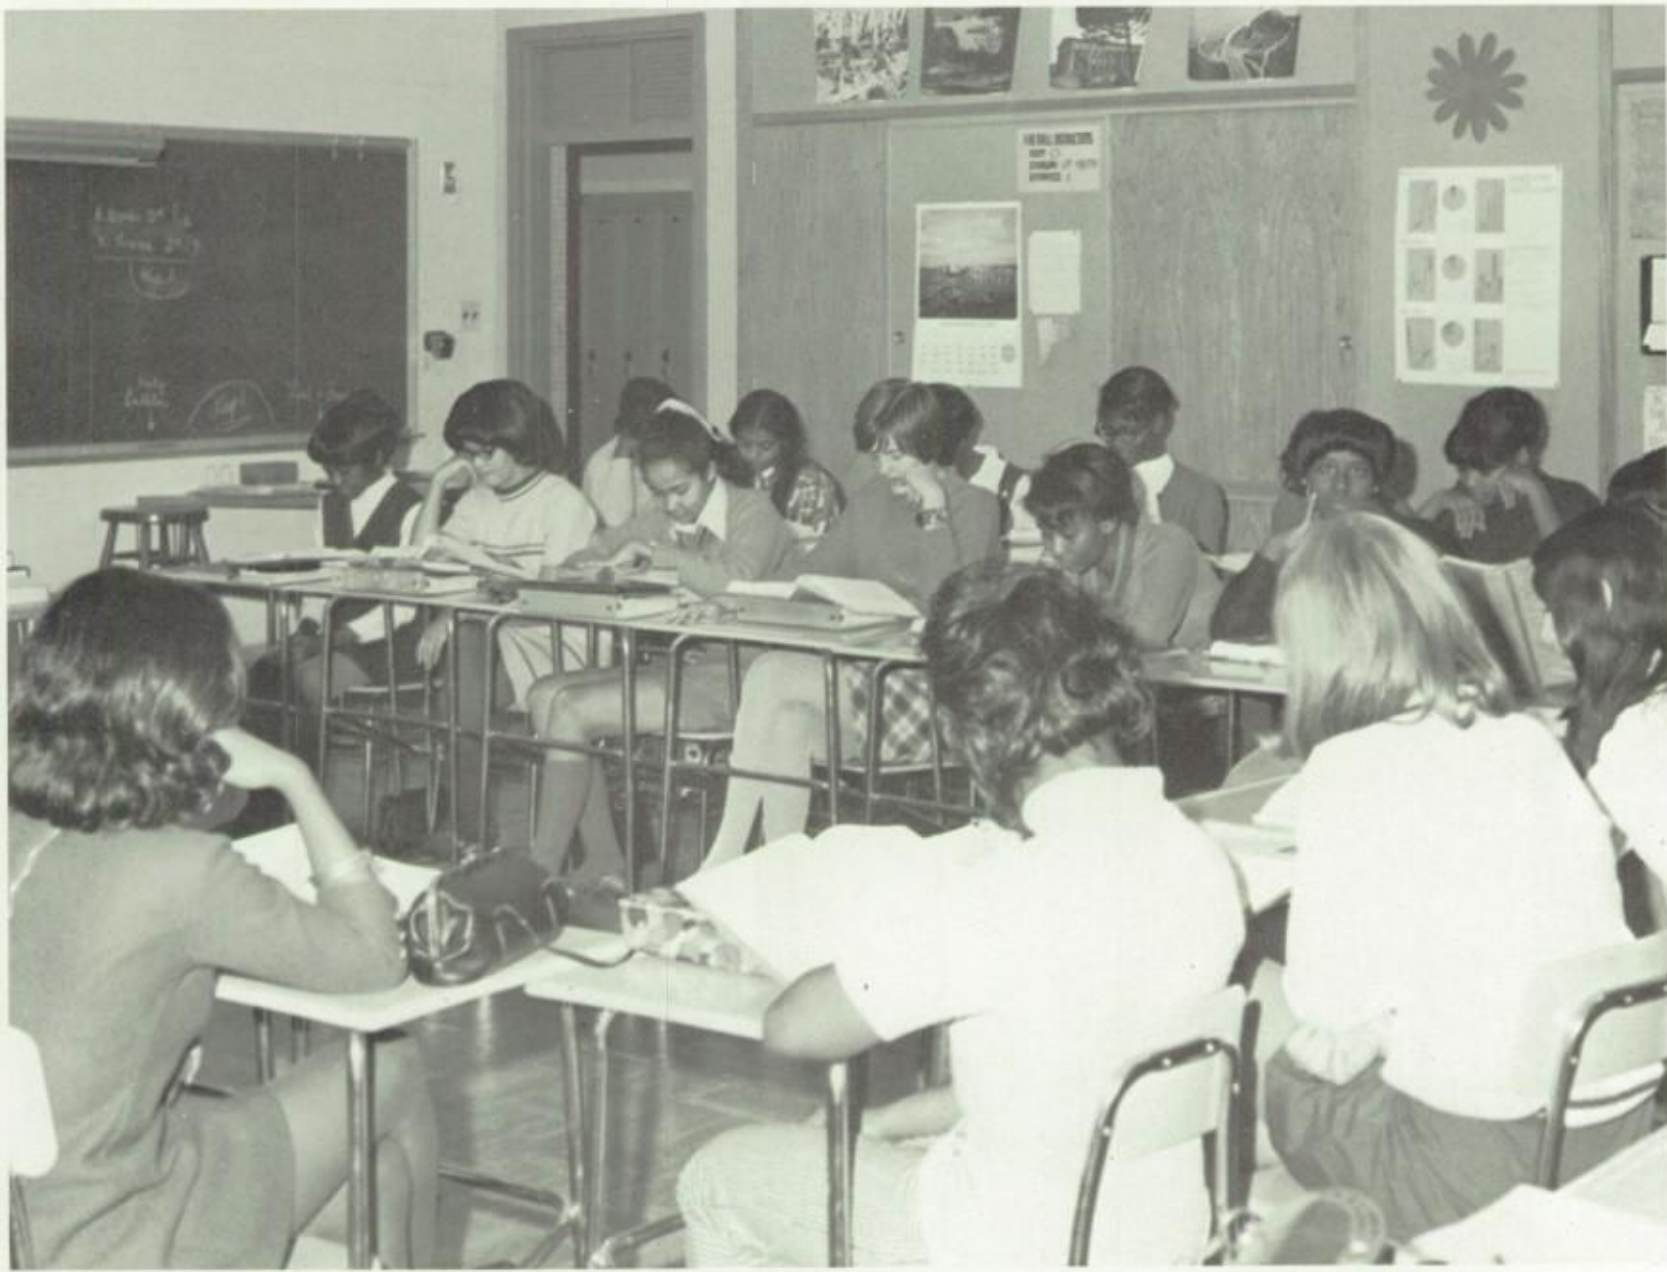

Freedom in the classroom results in an atmosphere of mutual learning. Students and teachers equally contribute to the class through informal discussions. The arrangement of desks is also less rigid, permitting freedom of motion to accompany freedom of thought.

The soul of this man is
is in his clothes.

William Shakespeare

Western girls are no longer confined to the four walls of the school itself. In the fall and spring many classes go outside for a change from the usual dull classrooms. Lunch has changed, too. The Western "lady" no longer sits in front of the school in a long skirt, studying. Instead, she usually comes to the quadrangle in pants, a miniskirt, or even an occasional midi and goes to the smoking area to have a cigarette.

Work Is Love

Principal since 1963, Miss Dorothy M. Kell retired last year. Reflecting on these past years, she commented that only the pleasant memories remain; she remembers the "wonderful people at Western," those with good ideas, willing to share them and discuss them with moderation.

The job for which she was trained was curriculum planning and improving classes; and Miss Kell was one of the first to consult students and involve them in their own schedules. Later, however, the principalship "developed into clerical tasks, completing questionnaires, answering inquiries and worrying about money appropriations." The "best thing about it was the contact with the students."

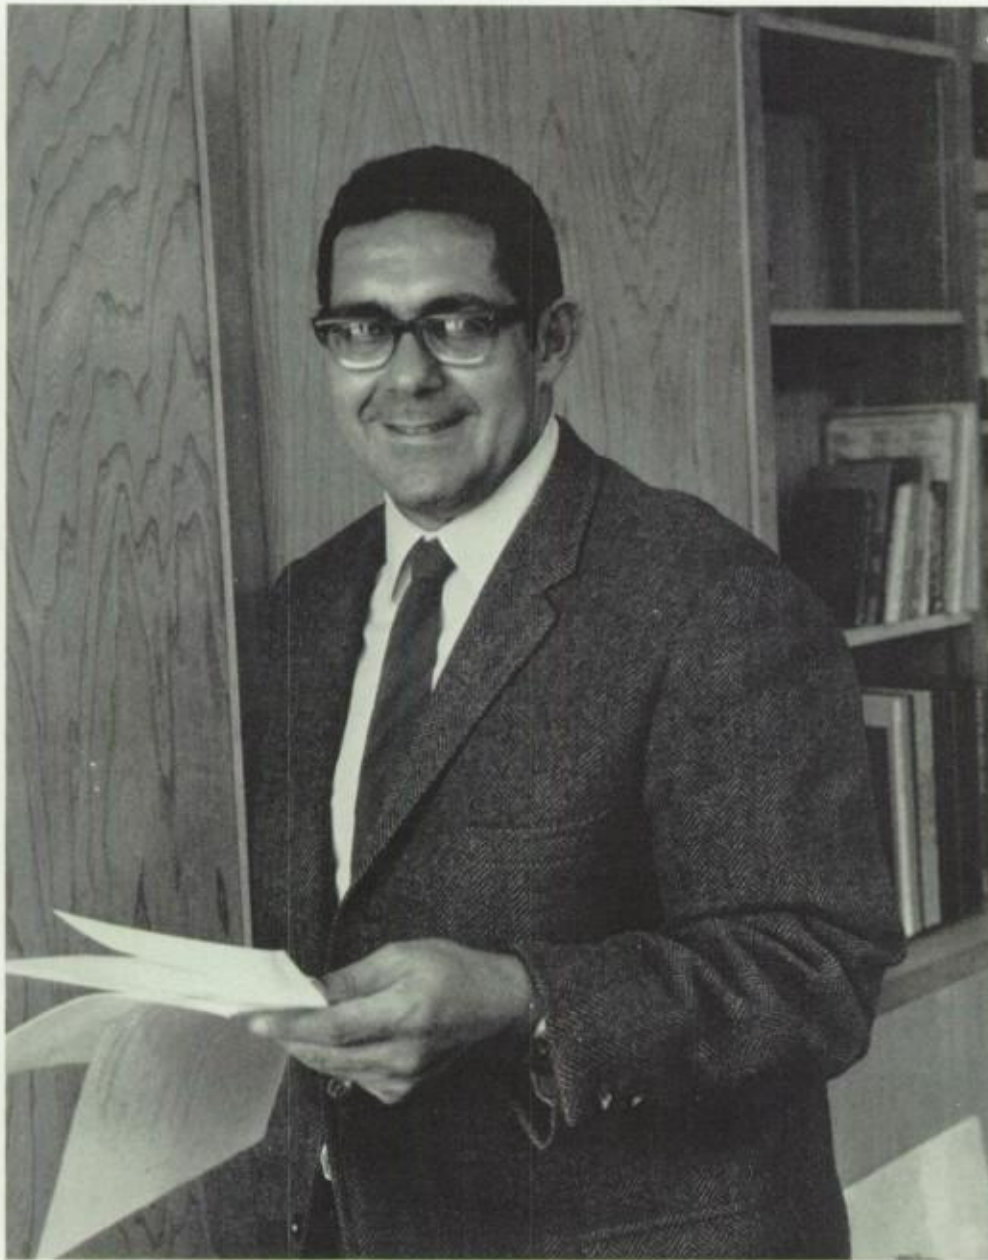

After last June, Miss Kell fulfilled one desire, to travel behind the Iron Curtain. In the immediate future, she plans to visit Europe and read all the books for which she never had time. Eventually, Miss Kell hopes to do volunteer work in the community. If her stay at Western was any indication, it will be the community's gain.

Made Visible

Kahlil Gibran

"The pressing goal of education is freedom — freedom of the mind to pursue the truth. Knowledge of the truth is essential for the acquiring and maintaining of personal and collective freedom.

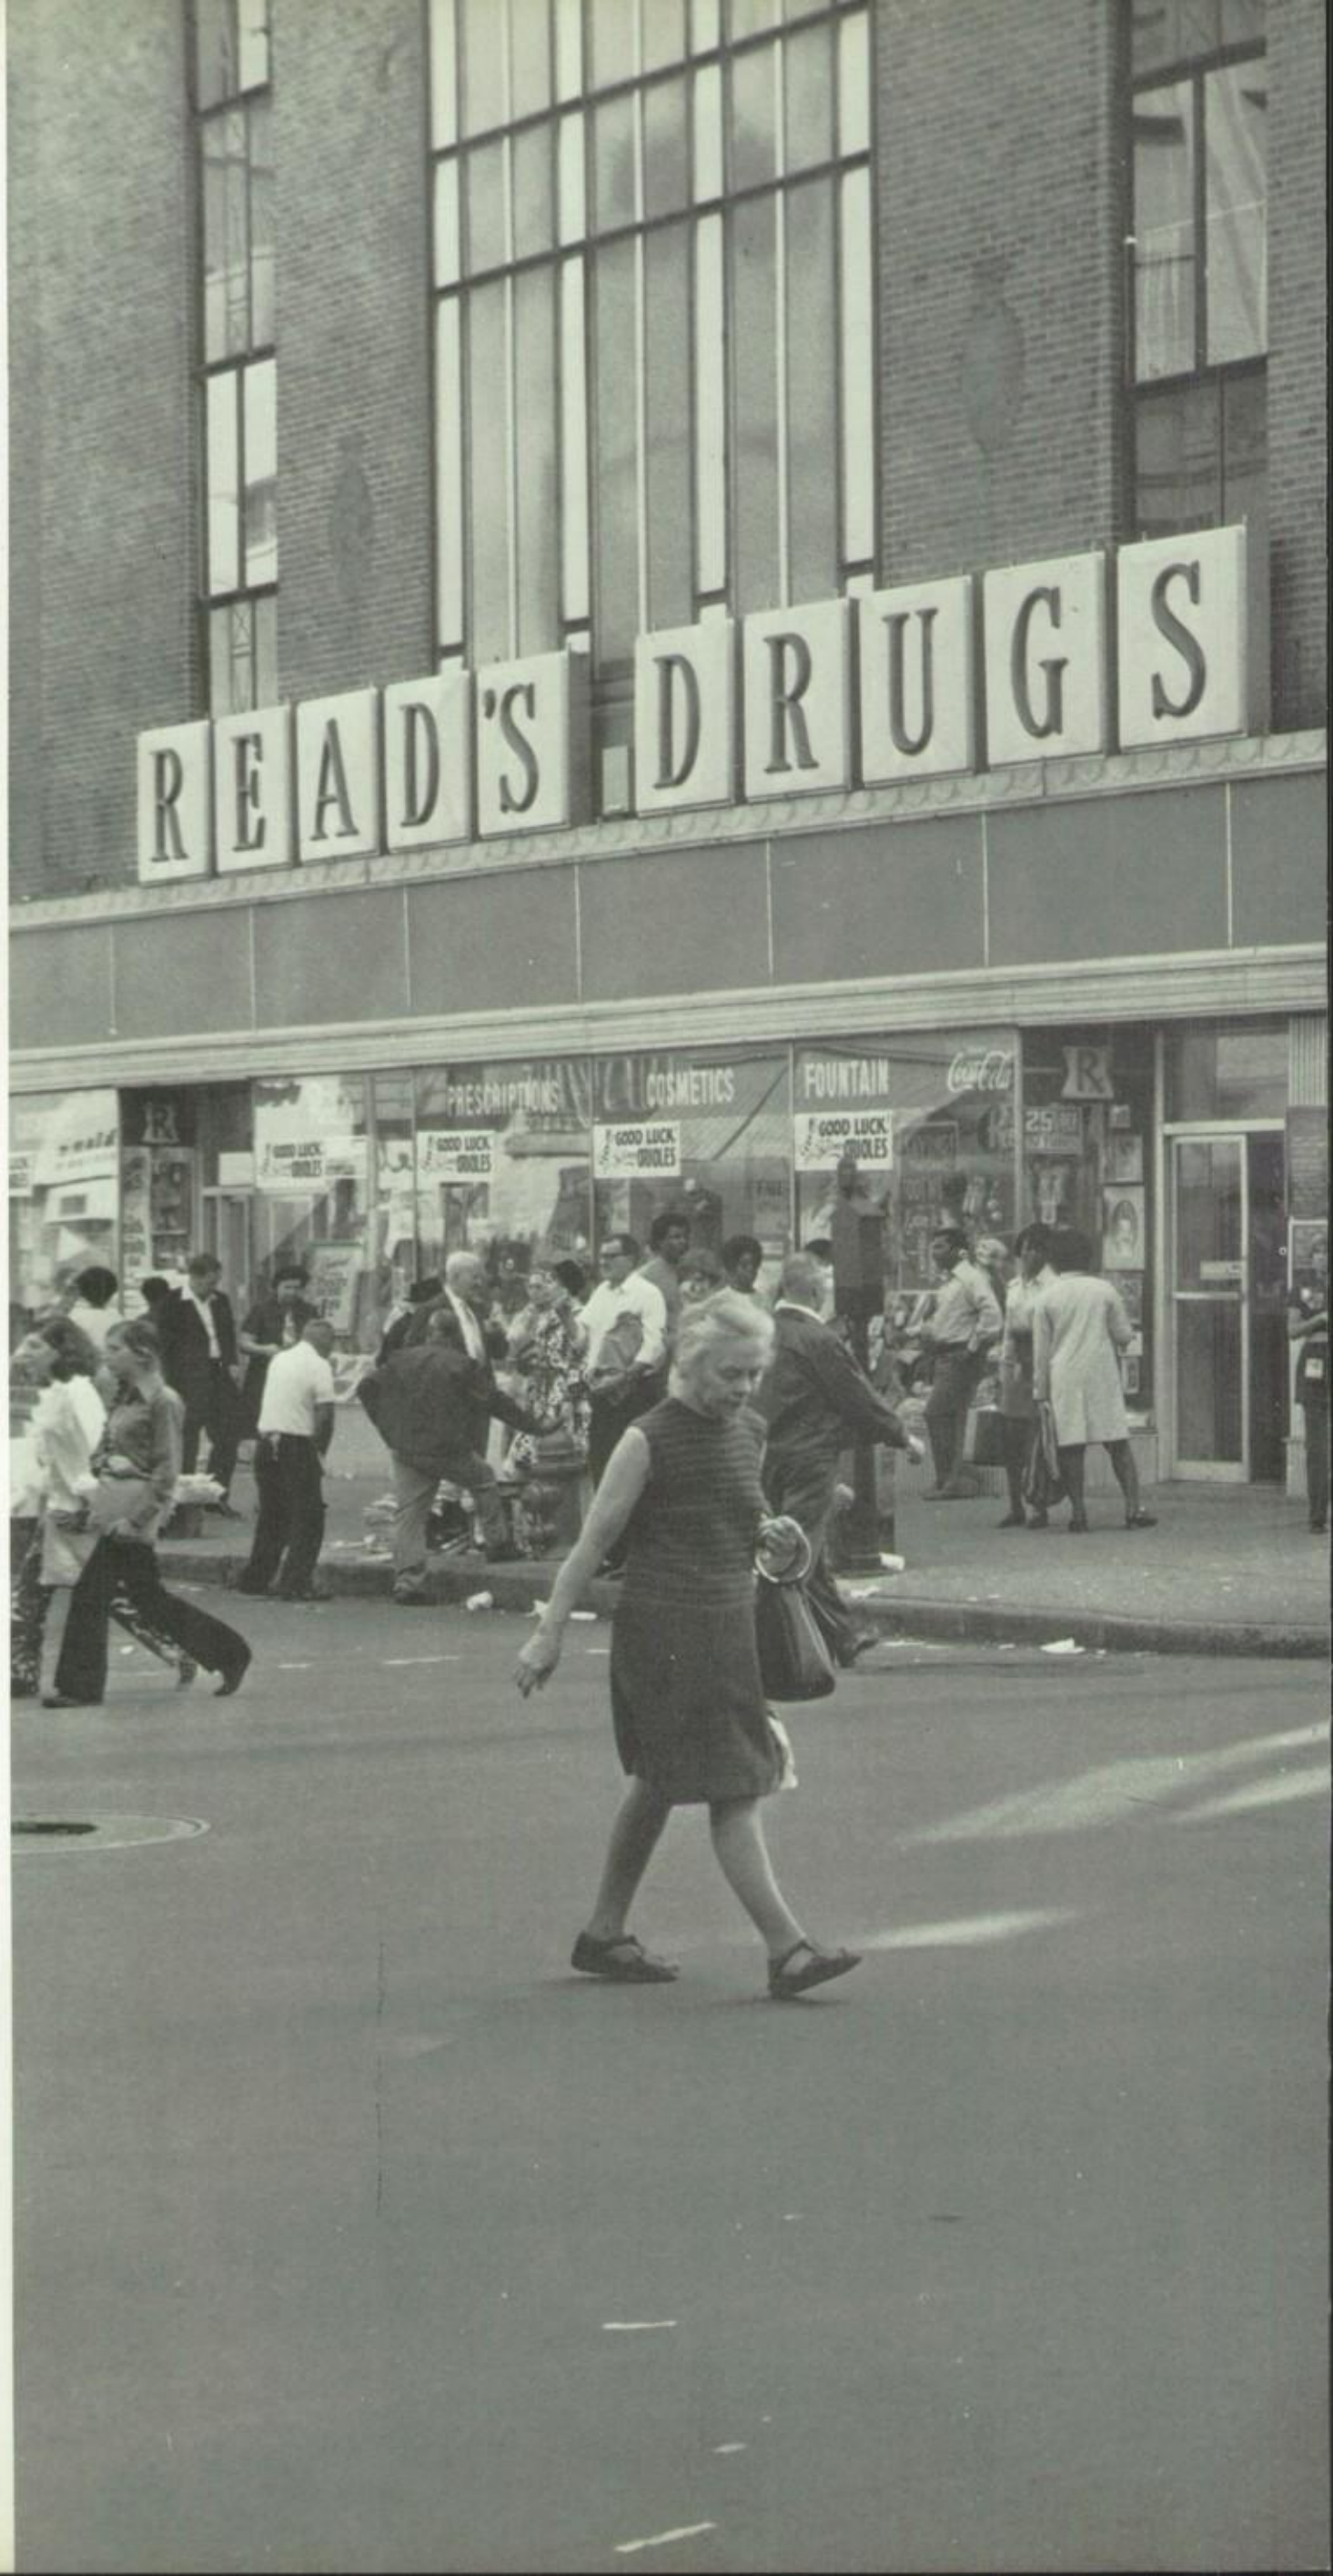

Our goal at Western is to provide an atmosphere of learning that enables a girl to discover the truth about herself and her relationships to others. Opportunities must be available for exploration and development of possible abilities, interests, and aptitudes. Girls should be encouraged to become active participants in school life as they seek this knowledge of themselves."

Angelo Fortunato

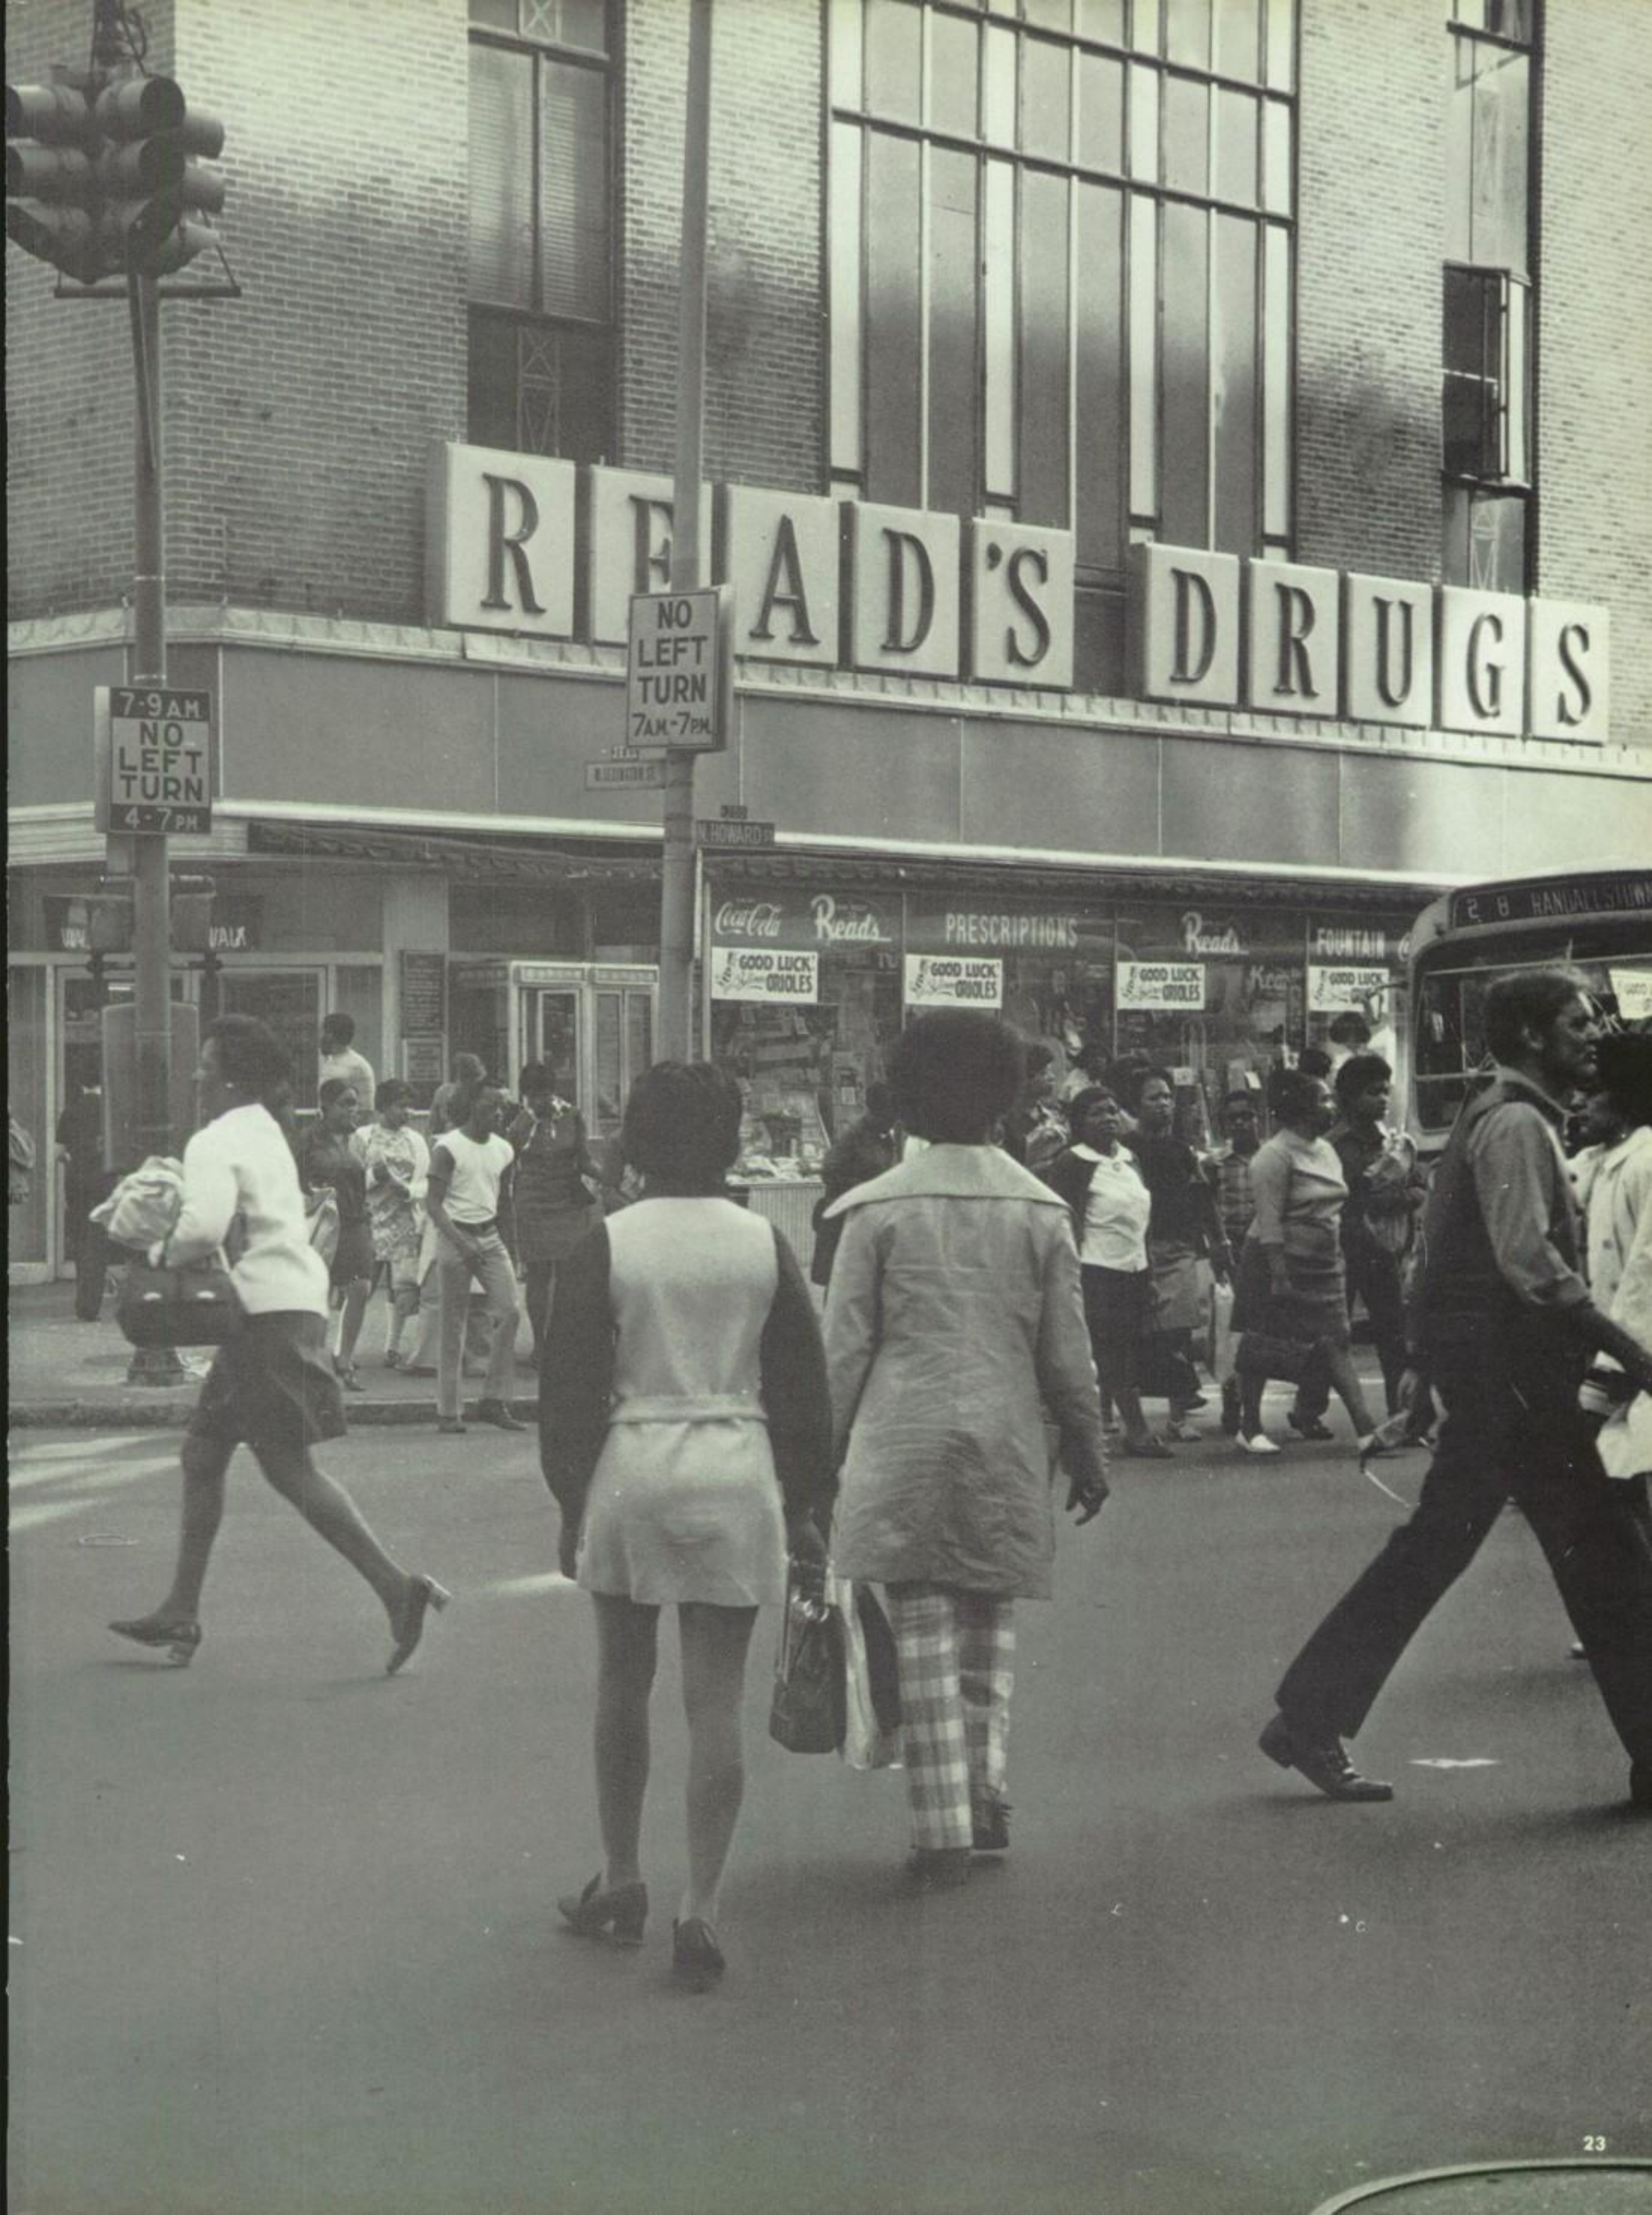

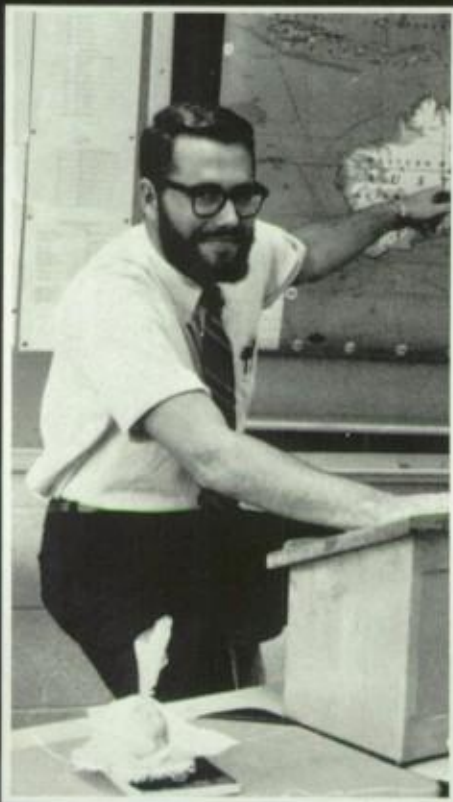

This is Western. So many things have happened to change this school — the building, the classes, and most important, the people. Our present environment is sensitive to ideas that are fresh and stimulating. In such an atmosphere, education becomes a truly reciprocal process. The external and internal changes we have experienced have left their impressions on us as well as providing the promise of further innovation.

CLASS HISTORY

Western opens its doors to Mayor McKeldin and the Freshman class of 1971.

Shyness dissolves as spirit increases, and friendships flourish.

The success of Freshman Day involves satire, Shakespeare, and Sominex.

A Funny Thing . . .

The fall of 1968 witnesses a welcome addition to the class.

One of the Great and Proud, Desiree Urquhart devotes time to studying and leading the tenth grade students.

With the new sophomores come greater opportunities for class expression — through drama, music, art, and old-fashioned spirit and industry.

The tradition of the Spring Revel is revived and then abandoned while the class of '71 completes its first two years.

Karen Willis and Iris Berman

Diane Phoebus and Miss Kell

Junior Day

Juniors celebrate their day with friends, a new banner, and the play Bright Girl.

Dr. Carrie May K. Zintl

Westernites of fifty years ago explore their school's newest residence.

Crystal Blue Persuasion

Though dances and dresses have changed, the spirit of the Junior Prom remains the same.

JoAnn Marshall

Cheryl Rucker

The opportunity to contribute to their class lures many qualified and eager candidates.

Wildwood 1970

“The Beginning of the End”

Senior advisor Mrs. Garrity talks with guest speaker Christopher Gaul, investigative reporter for W.J.Z.

Camille Saunders leads Souls for Victory in their successful first performance

Senior Day, September 23, marks official recognition of Class of '71

Seniors and Suds

Mr. Fortunato, Mr. Muir, and the Senior class risk dishpan hands to help raise money for the class.

Uni-Sex

Uni-sex provided the theme for Western's first dance of the school year.

D.E.C.A. at Western is D12. One of thirteen Distributive Education Clubs of America in the city, it provides the students with an opportunity to better acquaint themselves with merchandising and sales and business techniques. They apply their knowledge to outside work and receive credit for it. With Mr. Lyle Augustine as advisor, D.E.C.A. has published a monthly newsletter; sold candy, toy animals, and calendars; prepared food baskets at Christmas; and has had a Soul Food Session.

Western and Poly students interested in drama joined forces this year to present monthly Little Theatre productions as well as a major undertaking, The Skin of Our Teeth, by Thornton Wilder. In addition to these experiences, the thespians also attended dramatic productions in Washington and New York and participated in drama workshops.

Student Government

One of the recent innovations at Western, the Student Government, promises to be an active instrument of change. The constitution is flexible and open to interpretation. It includes changes in format and procedure. Representatives are chosen from each of the four classes and not from individual homerooms. The first officers of the Student Government are Kathy Cox — Chairman, Denise Seldon — Assistant Chairman, Vicki Carter — Treasurer, and Cheryl Brooks — Secretary.

The need to cure immediately the overwhelming social, economic, and political ills has produced an emphasis on change for its own sake and has obscured the distinction between different and better. Creative improvement is needed, not destructive revolution. However pressing the problem, the solution does not lie in senseless violence. Opportunities to modify and alter society are unlimited in welfare, housing, ecology, and education. Only dedication and knowledge are necessary. Knowledge is gained through study and experience. The dedication rests with the individual.
